

CONFESSIONS OF A TERRIBLE HUSBAND

Nick created a fun approach to the serious topic of relationship conflict; Where can you add fun like this in your life?

Where can you take personal 100% responsibility, instead of the easy road of blaming others?

What new options are available if you take responsibility like this?

What does Nick's story remind you of in your own life?

What changes can you make to improve your life, in light of this?